

Organicare Brightens Up Your Look (And Helps The Planet!)

POSTED BY ANDREA AT INO, NOV 8, 2008 AT 06:27 PM

Aloe and sugar and whey, oh my! Organicare's blend of 100% natural, USDA-certified organic, paraben-free ingredients will get the "Green" going in ya--especially after you see the results of their ingenious Brighter Tomorrow, a Microderma Oxygenation Treatment that will breathe new life into your skin!!

organicare
pure. performance skincare.

The line provides products that maintain the highest integrity of raw materials without compromising performance. In other words, the patented products are earth-friendly and natural, while at the same time giving you results (this Product Junkie was pretty impressed!).

I absolutely love Brighter Tomorrow and how it makes my skin luminous, tight, and radiant. The sugary scrub mask exfoliates and penetrates to even out tone and texture, and I could feel the Activator serum warming up my skin with its oxygenation treatment to help erase the wintry dullness that has crept up on it!

The best part about it is that you give back just by using the products--Organicare recently launched the "iCare!" campaign, which hopes to raise awareness and educate consumers on critical social and ecological issues. A portion of its annual proceeds go to Rescue a Million, an organization that helps others and the environment through self-sustaining programs. I'm hooked, so check back to read about other products in their line! (Wow, I feel more environmentally-conscious already.)

<http://www.imnotobsessed.com/node/52119>
